SPECIAL FEATURES

The plots where these traditional white Rioja grapes are grown are at 630m above sea level so benefit from warm days and cool nights. They are picked in the very early morning hours, before the heat of the day, and transported to the winery in small cases where they are de-stemmed and crushed. They are left with skin contact before slow fermentation to ensure the richness and flavour of the wine. No malolactic fermentation and very light filtration.

TASTING NOTES

Pale gold with a lemon zest, pear and floral nose laced with subtle honey and herb. Dry, fleshy attack, full of bitter citrus pith as well as fresh fig flavours and hints of spice. Concentrated yet nervy finish with plenty of warm, fruity persistence.
